Dispute Resolution

The resolution of commercial disputes through Chinese arbitration or litigation systems is becoming an increasingly attractive option for both foreign and domestic parties.

Our lawyers have a great depth of experience representing foreign and domestic clients in informal settlement negotiations and formal dispute proceedings. In relation to formal disputes proceedings, such experience includes administrative review proceedings, commercial arbitration, mediation, intellectual property hearings, international arbitration, and civil proceedings in the People's Courts.

Shortly after engaging us, clients receive an in-depth analysis of the merits of their case. Thereafter, we ensure that clients are provided with regular updates on the progress of their case and an analysis of the final decision.

We have a proven record of providing quality services and delivering solid results to clients in a wide range of cases.

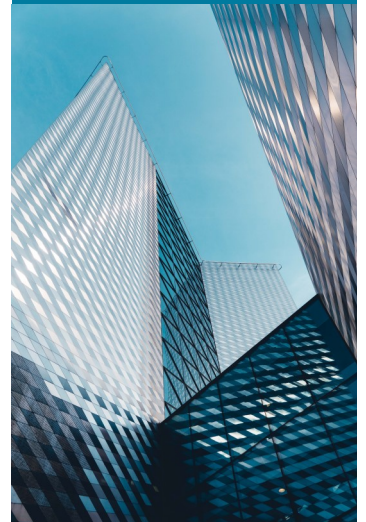

It is an experienced litigation team. The lawyers are able to understand clients' demands and solve disputes based on clients' business rather than rigid legal provisions.
